Dear Colleague:

The Klein University Lectureship Committee is beginning the task of selecting the Robert D. Klein University Lecturer for 2011. The Klein Lecture will be given at 3:00 p.m. on Thursday, 5 April 2012 in the Raytheon Amphitheater. On behalf of the Committee, I write to invite your participation in nominating candidates for this important University honor.

The primary criteria for final selection will be excellence in scholarly achievement and creative classroom activity. The Lecture need not be related to the candidate's own research, although it often is, and, in its final determination, the Committee will be guided "principally by the ability of the speaker to communicate effectively in an area of general interest," as stated in the 1963 Faculty Senate resolution that established the Lecture. It may be of some help to you to consider the list of University Lecturers in recent years: Barry Bluestone, Dean, School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, 2005; Alain S. Karma, Physics, 2006; Sanjeev Mukerjee, Chemistry and Chemical Biology, 2007; James A. Fox, College of Criminal Justice, 2008; Joan Fitzgerald, Law, Policy and Society, 2009; Gloria Barczak, Marketing, 2010; and Vince Harris, Electrical & Computer Engineering, 2011

Nominations for the Klein Lectureship should be sent to:

The Klein University Lectureship Committee
Faculty Senate Office
442 Ryder Hall

and must be received by Friday, 18 November.

The nomination form enclosed can serve as a guide in making your nominations, but simply identifying a nominee can suffice. Once nominated, each candidate will be asked to provide a full curriculum vitae, at least three supporting reference letters, a possible topic for his or her Klein Lecture, and any other materials the nominee may wish to submit, and these materials will need to be received no later than Friday, 16 December 2011.

Thank you for your help in support of this important and prestigious Northeastern University tradition.

Sincerely yours,

Louis J. Kruger, Chair
Senate Agenda Committee
