

Northeastern University

In the Loop Newsletter

Co-Op Connections

February 01, 2008

In the Loop D.C.: February 2008

Co-op Connections, Northeastern University

Recommended Citation

Co-op Connections, Northeastern University, "In the Loop D.C.: February 2008" (2008). In the Loop Newsletter. Paper 4.

This work is available open access, hosted by Northeastern University.

IN THE LOOP FEBRUARY 2008

Greetings,

January sure went by in a flash! We hope that you have settled into your new co-op responsibilities, new routine, and for some of you, new surroundings. The Co-op Connections crew have been busy planning events for this term and we hope you take advantage of them! Please check out the events section of this newsletter, but also visit coopconnections, neu, edu for a more detailed list.

We will continue to send you updates of important campus news as well as ways for you to stay connected and meet new people while on co-op.

If you have any suggestions on how we can make your life on co-op the best it can be, please feel free to email Sonya at s.mariotti@neu.edu.

Take care,

Sonya, Julia, & Alexa

Husky Happenings

BJ Novak, best known as Ryan on NBC's "The Office," performed for a full house at Blackman Auditorium last night. With plenty of laughs echoing throughout the hall, Novak and opener Dan Mintz received a standing ovation from the 1,000 in attendance at the end of the night.

The event, which was put on by Kappa Sigma, began around 8 p.m. and finished around 11 p.m. An autograph and photograph session with Novak followed.

We encourage you to join the Coop Connections Group NU Co-ops in DC
Meet new people, network and find out things you never knew about DC!

Upcoming DC Events

Beanpot Alumni Reception February 4

Join Northeastern University and Boston University alumni at R.F.D. Washington for the live Beanpot telecast with full sound as well as food and discounted drinks. Bring you NU spirit and prepare to meet NU hockey fans and enjoy the contest with fellow DC area alumni.

For more information please go to www.alumni.neu.edu

Chocolate Lovers Festival

February 2-3, 2008. Old Town Fairfax, Virginia. Enjoy a festival of everything chocolate! See the Chocolate Challenge, an arts contest featuring breathtaking art made completely of chocolate, sample chocolates, historic re-enactments, children's activities, craft show and more.

Mardi Gras on U Street
February 5, 2008, 7 p.m.
Bohemian Caverns 11th and U
Street NW Washington, DC
Enjoy an authentic evening of Mardi Gras inspired food, drinks, music and more.
Advance tickets are available for only $10.
For more information visit www.mardigrasonu.com/live/

You cant step out into the DC Area without being bombarded by all the cultural monuments and institutions of our democracy. But unlike other museums in other cities, most of D.C's points of intrest are free!!

Recent Boston Events

The Lansdowne Street that most Bostonians are familiar with is about to begin a monumental facelift. No longer will clubgoers and music enthusiasts be able to find the Axis, Avalon, Rocket Bar or the Embassy across from Fenway Park. Instead, a new venue owned by House of Blues will take their place.

Despite local media reports that the Lyons Group recently sold its properties at 11-36 Lansdowne St. to the House of Blues chain, which is an affiliate of Live Nation, a representative from the group insisted that the venues are only being leased.

"Live Nation didn't buy anything," Alan Eisner, a spokesperson for the Lyons Group, said in an interview with The News. "The Lyons Group will continue to be the landlords and they'll be overseeing all major construction."

Eisner said the construction is slated to be completed next fall and that House of Blues will add its own interior design

Get Involved

Greater DC Cares offers all kinds of volunteer opportunities, some of which you may have never considered before: skilled volunteering, serving as a nonprofit board member, building a library or computer lab! We can help you find the perfect fit – one that meets your interests, skills and schedule. For more information visit their website at www.dc-cares.org/default.html

IN THE LOOP FEBRUARY 2008

Important NU Information

Keep in Mind that...

Registration for:
Summer I &II Classes
begins Feb. 4th
Check the Registrar's website at:
www.registrar.neu.edu to find your exact registration date and time.

Housing Deposits for 2008-2009 are due February 6

"Outtakes has Extended Their Hours!"
New Hours of Operation

Monday-Thursday 11 am – 1 am
Friday 11 am – 7 pm
Closed Saturday
Sunday Now Open from 8 pm – 12 am

If you are looking to try to sublet your room for next semester or looking for a place to live you can check out our

Housing Share on the coop tab of your myNEU portal. Also take a look at the Ride Share under the same tab!

Alumni Association

There are a lot of great ways to stay connected! Northeastern University alumni from all over the world have founded alumni chapters and groups to keep you connected to your alma mater. These groups serve diverse interests and offer events and programs related to the arts, athletics, community service, lifelong learning, and professional development.

If you would like to know more and to get involved, please visit their website at www.alumni.neu.edu