Chair's Corner

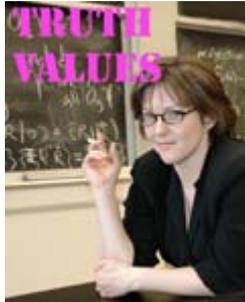

According to findings by the Department Leadership Project, departments that are cognizant to faculty's work/life needs and make reasonable accommodations are likely to be healthier and able to recruit and retain high-quality faculty. To read how chairs can create family-friendly policy environments, check out the full article, published by the American Council on Education.

Truth Values

This month, ADVANCE is pleased to host the critically acclaimed show Truth Values: One Girl's Romp Through M.I.T.'s Male Math Maze. This solo show written and performed by "recovering mathematician" Gioia De Cari, winner of the 2009 New York International Fringe Festival Overall Excellence Award, has played to sold out audiences from Boston to San Francisco. In Truth Values, Gioia De Cari portrays over 30 characters with energy, enthusiasm, and no sugar coating. Gioia tells of her time as a woman Ph.D. candidate in M.I.T.'s math department in the late 1980's. There are moments for laughs and discussion as Gioia takes you into her world starting as a fresh and feisty Berkley undergraduate to the end of her days at M.I.T.

Do not miss your chance to see this play which has received rave reviews in the Boston Globe and TimeOut New York! We will have showings on March 25 and March 26 for faculty and administrators and on March 24 for PhD students. For more information and to reserve your seat, please visit the ADVANCE website. PhD students should RSVP here.

Panel of Recently Promoted Faculty

Are you coming up for tenure or a promotion soon? Do you have questions about the process or just want to network with your peers? On March 17, 2010, Laura Kramer, former Program Director for ADVANCE at the National Science Foundation will facilitate a panel discussion with some of Northeastern's most recently promoted faculty members. As facilitator, Dr. Kramer will connect the different experiences about how units proceed differently in the promotion process. Panelists include Javed Aslam (CCIS) and Miriam Leeser (ECE). Come and enjoy lunch with us and have your questions answered by those with recent experience. Be sure to RSVP to hold your place at the table.

About Advance: www.northeastern.edu/advance

Northeastern University is a National Science Foundation funded ADVANCE Institutional Transformation site. This site's theme is to advance women in interdisciplinary and international networks. This 5-year institutional program is closely aligned with Northeastern's move toward interdisciplinary scholarship and increased global engagement. The Northeastern ADVANCE Program reports to the Office of the Provost. ADVANCE is funded by NSF Award HRD-08111701.
